

VS Industry (VSI MK)

1QFY26: Within Expectations; Recovery Is On Track

Highlights

- We expect the earnings recovery to continue, driven by narrowing losses from previously unprofitable operations and sustained healthy utilisation rates across plants.
- Valuation dislocation offers deep value. VS is trading at an undemanding 14.3x FY26F PE (-0.5SD below its seven-year mean) and 0.81x FY26F P/B (-2SD), below even the MCO trough band of 0.83-0.88x.
- We view this as an attractive risk-reward entry point as fundamentals stabilise. Maintain BUY. Target price: RM0.70.

Analysis

- Within expectations. VS Industry (VS) reported 1QFY26 core profit of RM24.5m (4QFY25: -RM18.4m; -20% yoy), accounting for 19% of our and consensus full-year numbers. Core earnings were adjusted for a reversal of impairment loss of RM6.1m on trade receivables following recovery from a discontinued customer.
- If not for the losses from Philippines operations (RM9.1m), HT Press (RM2.4m) and forex losses (RM3.5m), underlying performance would have been meaningfully stronger. Nevertheless, results are deemed within expectations as we anticipate a progressive narrowing of losses at both HT Press and the Philippines, with improvement expected from Dec 25 onwards. Meanwhile, contribution from new customer following the merger consolidation would drive additional revenue growth in 4QFY26.

Company Description

VS Industry is involved in the manufacturing of plastic parts and components, contract manufacturing, precision mould making, the sub-assembly of electronic and electrical equipment and other secondary processes. It has plants in Malaysia, China, and Indonesia.

- Revenue rebounded 26% qoq, driven by the recognition of deferred orders from its key customers that were previously pushed back due to operational disruptions following the Liberation Day break in 4QFY25. As a result, the company recorded a strong turnaround in profitability with core net profit of RM24.5m (4QFY25 core net loss of RM18.4m), underscoring the pent-up demand from customers once operations normalised, as well as the company's ability to quickly ramp up production to fulfil backlogged orders.
- Strategic measures enhance resilience. We understand that management has reached a verbal agreement with a key customer on tariff cost-sharing. While this may dilute margins, it should be offset by stronger sales volumes and deeper customer engagement. This collaborative approach underlines VS' ability to safeguard revenues despite policy risks. Note that Malaysia's relative tariff advantage (19% vs China's 54%) also reinforces its position in global supply chains. Discussions with Customer X further reaffirm VS' long-term commitment across both Malaysian and Philippine operations.
- New foray – Potential rerating driver. VS continues to attract interest from new MNCs, leveraging Malaysia's entrenched ecosystem. Early-stage discussions are underway, with a medical industry collaboration emerging as the most tangible (double its capacity in JB and they put VS as strategic partner). PCB assembly has already commenced for this client, but we exclude contributions from forecasts for now. As a sensitivity test, securing a RM300m contract at 3% net margin could boost FY26 earnings by about 7%.
